Columbia Steel Company's program of helping disabled veterans to help themselves by working in productive jobs has won the company a certificate of appreciation from the National Executive Committee of the American Legion. California State Adjutant Donald L. Clarke is shown presenting the inscribed certificate to Aiden G. Roach (center), President of Columbia Steel, far western subsidiary of United States Steel Corporation. E. C. Hinckley, Supervisor of Training and Safety at Columbia's Pittsburg, California, Plant, looks on.

'LP' Gas Now Widely Used In Industries

The success of the federally-sponsored rural electrification program in bringing comfort and efficiency to America's farm families has been matched by a distinct trend in the preferences of farmers themselves for a little-publicized petroleum product—liquid petroleum gas.

Five million American farms are now using "L. P. gas," as oil men call it. That's 10 times more than in 1936. Two billion gallons were sold in 1948, twenty times more than in 1936. 1948 consumption was up 200 million gallons over 1947.

It is delivered as a liquid under pressure. When released into the air it becomes a hot burning gas, three times as rich in heat as natural gas. Some farmers even use it for weed burning, so easily transported is L. P. gas.

Thief Partial to Pink Takes Simple Things

A color conscious thief, partial toward pink, robbed the clothes line of J. C. Chittick, 156 1/2 De Arboles, last week and made off with five pink things.

Although the line contained other items of clothing, Chittick told the Torrance Police, the thief only took three panties and two bras.

Police thought the thief wanted only the simple things of life.

Production of stainless steel has increased from 42,000 tons in 1929 to well over 600,000 tons in 1948.

Of a still relatively new business that is getting even more good out of each barrel of petroleum the nation produces. They feel they could sell even more fuel if it were available. But production, growing as it is, is trailing demand, particularly since factory owners are beginning to discover the merits of L. P. gas for technical uses where an extremely hot flame is required.

Cows Coming Into County To Be Tested

All cattle entering Los Angeles county will be given the tuberculin test, even though clean bills of health are presented by cattle shippers.

This policy has been adopted by the Board of Supervisors on motion of Supervisor Raymond V. Darby, after Dr. L. M. Hurt, county livestock inspector, appeared before the Board to urge the adoption at the same time of an ordinance for clarification of his duties in testing dairy cattle imported into Los Angeles county.

Under agreement recently made with federal and state livestock regulatory authorities, tests will be conducted upon all premises where diseased cattle have been found. These tests will be repeated at intervals until infection has been eliminated.

The county's part in the program, according to Darby, is that of preventing as completely as possible, the importation and
